

Rules governing broadcast ownership that serve the public interest rather than private interests must be firmly in place for democracy to survive. On June 2, I urge you to retain the current ownership rules or even make them more stringent to block media consolidation and encourage a variety of viewpoints to fill our media. Democracy is at stake.